

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In one embodiment, a processor includes an execution unit configured to execute one or more threads and a detection unit coupled to detect whether a given thread includes an identifier. The execution unit is further configured to selectively continue execution of the given thread depending upon whether the detection unit detects the identifier.

10

15

20